

THE BLIND SIDE

HOME FURNISHINGS

Pittsburgh's interior design market is thriving. A glance at this market would be incomplete without noting The Blind Side Home Furnishings. At the epicenter of this prestigious decor business is Diane Laskoski and her team of talented designers. Join us as we peruse their most recent project in Fox Chapel.

The home featured in these pages is a newly completed sumptuous estate nestled on a hill in Fox Chapel, a short 15-minute-drive from downtown Pittsburgh. The Blind Side Home Furnishings design team worked tirelessly for more than two years developing this space with inviting, unexpected features and finishes to create a warm and relaxing atmosphere. The home reflects craftsmanship that has long been absent in many new homes and incorporates their client's specific tastes and lifestyles into the decor.

Diane's team has an eye for detail and their approach to interior design has landed them the Excellence in Craftsmanship- Interior Award from the Master Builder's Association of Western Pennsylvania, Inc.

and other national and international awards. The home base of this creativity is tucked away in the quiet town of Verona, just east of Pittsburgh. There, they have a 3,000 square foot showroom that boasts multiple vendor and accessory lines from around the world.

Their newest endeavor, Villa Verona Design, is located in Travelers Rest, South Carolina. This European-style studio provides renovations, interior design, furniture and accessories to The Cliffs Communities and surrounding areas.

Wherever the project, clients can depend upon The Blind Side Home Furnishings to blend their lifestyle and taste into their dream space. Quality design won't be achieved without the proper team behind the job. To see more of their work and just what they're capable of, please visit their design gallery online at TheBlindSide.com
